Comments: The proposed mine to be developed in Glenaladale will impact the region of East Gippsland and the food bowl which produces an extensive amount of vegetables for the state of Victoria and Australia. This will devastate our region through water pollution, toxic dust and most notably the decimation of Indigenous landmarks and artifacts that are an important part of our region. East Gippsland is home to the largest inland waterways in the southern hemisphere and will no doubt be impacted our unique region. Kalbar Resources has not been transparent in there delivery and sharing of information that will impact East Gippsland and has lobbied for a mine that is not wanted or needed here. Listen to the farmers, listen to the community. Tourism is one of our biggest drivers for the local economy and this will drive a hole in to the heart, land and water of one of the most beautiful regions in Australia.
